New information delivered during Governor Holcomb's Covid Update Today, Wednesday 2.3.21:

“Effective Monday, changes will be coming to how “close contact” is defined in Indiana school classrooms. Dr. Box announced there will no longer be quarantine or contact tracing requirements if a student or teacher remains three feet apart and all parties are masked.

Dr. Box said this does not apply to lunch, band, choir or in a setting where a mask is not required. She added that this specific guidance will be shared with schools this week.”

Lake Central will await specific guidance however based on today’s press conference announcement, we anticipate a dramatic drop in the number of staff and students needing to quarantine due to close contact beginning next week.
